Day 6: Portoferraio (Italy)

One of Elba Island's oldest towns, Portoferraio traces its origins to the ancient Greeks, though much of the modern town was built by the Medici in the 1500s. Brimming with Tuscan charm, it's a favourite for both beach-lovers and history buffs. Take a dip at Spiaggia di Capo Bianco, a northern beach scattered with small white pebbles and fronting impossibly clear water. Wander the historic streets to explore Palazzina dei Mulini, one of Napoleon's official residences during his exile here, the impressive Archaeological Museum, and the ruins of the Roman Villa della Linguella. Relax with another late night in port and toast the sunset with a glass of Aleatico, a sweet red dessert wine and local delicacy.

Day 7: Calvi, Corsica (France)

Calvi, on the French island of Corsica, boasts a rich and storied history. Founded in the 13th century, its fiery medieval citadel still stands above red tiled roofs. A magnet for visitors since the 1920s, Calvi's moon-shaped bay features golden, sandy beaches framed by forested mountains on the horizon. Today, Calvi has the feel of a chic resort on the French Riviera, with waterfront restaurants, luxury hotels, and multi-million-dollar yachts bobbing in the harbour. Stroll the alleys of the historic old town, walk the ramparts of the citadel, and visit the house said to be the birthplace of Christopher Columbus.
